PREMIER DREW VIVID PICTURE OF THE GLORIOUS FUTURE AWAITING CANADA—AS A SELF-GOVERNING NATION CANADA MUST ASSUME THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR HER DEFENCE, BOTH ON LAND AND SEA—MAGNIFICENT SPEECHES DELIVERED BY THE MINISTER OF RAILWAYS AND CANALS AND MANY OTHERS.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER

"This country has not been made by the hand of God for the weak, the effete, the lazy, the sluggard. It is for the strong, the hardy, the energetic."

"What is the first right, what is the first duty, and what is the first responsibility of a free people? It must be prepared to maintain its integrity. It must be prepared to maintain and defend its allegiance. And to do that duty we have given our attention in the last parliament, and have determined to organize a navy to protect our shores."

"We are young yet, but we have the pretensions of the most exalted nation in the world. When they say it is too high a task for us I say to them, 'No it is not.' This is the beginning. The dawn is grey with the light of the twentieth century. And as that light grows stronger and deeper into day, so shall we take our place, our rightful place, that is prepared for us among the nations of the world."

"I think that the Hudson Bay Railway will solve the live stock problem for when this line is completed Western live stock will be taken on board vessels at Fort Churchill after only about 24 hours' confinement in hot, stuffy cattle cars. I believe that in the years to come the Edmonton district will be a dairy country and the Hudson Bay route will make it possible then for the Western dairy products to be shipped to the motherland and other countries in first class condition."

"I also have a vision that even when all the proposed railways are built the country will be so far advanced that people will be crying for more roads and I think that before many years another great railway will be running through the Peace River district and the fertile northland through even to the coast."—Hon. George P. Graham.

"The Liberal government is one which realizes the needs of the West and what is more it is filling these needs. We ask you to stand behind our leader and I believe that when the time comes the West will not disappoint our expectations."—E. M. MacDonald, M. P.

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier stands for a principle. He has always stood for it, fought for it and lived for it. And if he is now acclaimed I would like you to remember that it has been because of his fighting qualities."

"He is Sir Wilfrid of the 'sunny smile.' But he has been Laurier of the long fight, and if at last he has won out, none of us begrudge him his victory."—Hon. Frank Oliver.

"The Liberal government believes in the riches of the West—its possibilities and believes it will be the means of making Canada a great nation."

"So far as this government has been led by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, there has been one outstanding feature and that is to develop Canada as much as it can be developed—and can you say that anything has been done or money spent, that is not in the interests of the country."—F. F. Pardee, M. P.

Six thousand people stood up spontaneously and cheered again and again last night at the Thistle Rink when Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of all Canada, stepped out upon the platform that had been so gallantly decorated in his honor. For several moments the Premier stood looking and smiling in response to the ovation offered him by the people of Edmonton.

Hon. C. W. Cross acted as chairman and on the platform with Sir Wilfrid were Hon. A. L. Sifton, Premier of Alberta; Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior; Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals; F. F. Pardee, M. P.; E. M. MacDonald, M. P.; Hon. C. R. Mitchell, Hon. Duncan Mearns, Hon. Arch. McLean, Mayor Lee and many others.

Ovation for Cross

When Hon. C. W. Cross stood up to open the meeting, he received a remarkable ovation, the audience cheering him for several minutes.

"It is less than five years since we had the opportunity of welcoming the Premier in our midst," said Mr. Cross, in opening the meeting, "and there is no doubt that it will be a source of great gratification to him to see the growth of the city during that time."

"If I knew anything about the people here tonight, and I think I do, I know that if he comes back in three years time we'll show him not 25,000 citizens, but 50,000. We heartily welcome him here tonight and wish for him that he will come back much sooner than he did last time."

"I have much pleasure in introducing Premier Sifton of the Province of Alberta."

Premier Sifton

"It is sixteen years," began Premier Sifton, "since I came to Edmonton with Sir Wilfrid Laurier. At that time it was my first visit to the pro-

Haney Landed Last Night Near His Home at Dillon, Montana

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 10.—Late last night a wire was received from Dillon, Montana, stating that Bill Haney, the desperado wanted for suspected participation in the hold up of the C. P. R. express in the mountains near Duck Lake, B. C., June 22, 1909, had been captured.

Bill and his brother Dave had a hard name at Calabasas, where they were born, and the authorities were relieved when they went further afield. From the time of the robbery the police have concentrated in a rapidly narrowing circle until a week later when Constable Decker challenged two men in a boat on the river at Ashbrook. The men came ashore in an interchange of shots both a constable and one bandit were killed.

The remaining bandit stripped the corpse of everything that might lead to identification and walked away unmolested in sight of scores of spectators who dared not interfere. The body was subsequently identified as Dave, and Bill was later recognized by a holidaying journalist. At that time he was hiding in the vicinity of his home, but again got away, only to be caught last night.

JURY'S VERDICT DOES NOT MEAN ACQUITTAL

ATTORNEY GENERAL MITCHELL SAYS MOUNTED POLICE ARE WITHIN RIGHTS IN CASE OF TABER MINER CHARGED WITH MURDER.

"The government is powerless to interfere," said Hon. C. R. Mitchell, attorney-general to the Capital this morning, regarding the petition of the Taber miners that Frank Decaux, who was consigned by a coroner's jury some time ago, and who was detained in custody by the mounted police, be liberated.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell stated that he had given the matter consideration and had come to the conclusion that nothing could be done by the government but that Decaux would have to stand his trial for murder at the assizes.

History of Case

The affair originated with the death of a miner at Taber. The unfortunate man met his death by being struck by one of the truck cars which bear the ore from the mine, and Decaux was accused of starting the car on purpose so that it would strike the dead man. He was immediately arrested and a coroner's jury which investigated the matter brought in a verdict which contained the statement that there was no evidence on which to connect Decaux with the death of the man.

STORM PUT LIGHTS OUT

Struck Wires and Put Telephones and Street Lights Out of Business

TRANSFORMERS INJURED

But It Is Expected Everything Will Be All Right By Tonight

The electric storm which struck the city at midnight was one of the worst that the telephone and electric light departments have had to contend with for some time. As a result of the storm and particularly as the result of a most vivid and terrifying flash of lightning which occurred about 1.30 a. m., the employees of both city departments are today busy in repairing the damage done. The central portion or business part of the city, very peculiarly escaped any injury, while from First to Twelfth streets, and in the vicinity of the penitentiary, there was much damage done to the wires and fuses. Many telephones in these districts are as a result out of order.

At the power house a number of transformers were put out of commission, but only temporarily. It is likely that all the broken fuses will be replaced by tonight, and the wires repaired. The transformers will also be repaired by the time dusk sets in.

The storm began at about midnight and at about 1.30 a. m. it was at its worst. The lightning display was most marvellous, the sky being lit up continuously. The rolls of thunder were almost deafening and followed each other in quick succession and led up to one terrific clap, which not only was very startling in itself, but was rendered more terrifying by the street lights going out immediately after.

There were no reports of any serious damage to property, but no doubt there were many incidents throughout the city. On the occasion of one flash of lightning, a chimney on a house on Third street was struck and split right down the middle, and this morning presented a peculiar but powerful exhibition of the powers of lightning.

The fire department reported no fires as a result of the storm, but the different stations were in readiness for any emergency.

"SPIT BALL" IN TENNIS.

R. E. Callahan Has Not Lost A Set This Summer—And He and His Partner Make Money.

Spokane, Wash., August 10.—And now comes the "spit ball" in tennis R. E. Callahan, a local player, who has not lost a single set this season, and C. E. Cole, his partner at the net, claim to be the inventors of a peculiar stroke which they have used with signal success since early last spring. Cole and Callahan have been winning all kinds of trophies and side bets from numerous experts in Spokane the last three months, and up to date no other pair has been able to even so much as a game.

NO FRENCH, NO ENGLISH, BUT ALL ARE CANADIANS

Such Was Key Note of Sir Wilfrid's Address at St. Albert Yesterday Afternoon—No Speeches At the Luncheon

Starting at four o'clock it took the Premier's party but a short half-hour to motor to St. Albert yesterday afternoon. The dust on the roads was exceedingly bad, but this did not deter the speed of the cars, which pulled up opposite the meeting place at 25 minutes from the time they left Edmonton.

As soon as he arrived Sir Wilfrid went up to the church on the hill and there attended a short service, after which he proceeded to the special sheltered platform which had been erected for the purpose.

Gala Day For St. Albert.

St. Albert presented a very animated appearance. Flags and bunting were flying everywhere, while between the two hotels a welcome to the Premier was stretched. The population of St. Albert and Morinville turned out to a man to hear the Premier speak, and while he was addressing them they listened with marked quiet and attention, and when they applauded they applauded vigorously, showing their feelings in rounds of cheers. The platform had been erected at the bottom of the hill facing upwards so that the audience was able to sit in a natural theatre in the shade of the side of the hill.

When everyone had taken their seats Sir Wilfrid addressed the Mayor spoke a few words and then the Premier began his speech. "You tell me that you have no formal address to present to me of that I am glad. I want to tell you of my hearty welcome, and this you surely have extended to me. There is one thing that I want you to remember and that is that no matter what our origin, we must always join together in working for the good of the whole province. I myself was born French, but I had the privilege of being educated in a British institution, and I must say that there is nothing to equal them. I shall always have a very pleasant remembrance of this visit to St. Albert, which I shall always carry about with me. I can only repeat to you what I have said in French: No matter what our origin, work together for the good of the country."

Sir Wilfrid addressed the meeting in both French and English, repeating the same ideas each time.

The Hon. Frank Oliver then said a few words, telling how Canada had grown under the management of Laurier as it had never done before, and gave the reason of this because there were still English and still French in the country, but they, instead of putting against each other under the guidance of Sir Wilfrid, helped each other towards the common goal. This he said has been the life work of Sir Wilfrid. Mr. Oliver in conclusion said that he had the greatest confidence in the Premier, and though a Protestant, has followed him in his dealings with French Roman Catholics.

The Hon. C. P. Graham was the last speaker. He started off by saying that there were a lot of people that thought that if the Mackenzie route had been chosen for the C.P.R. that would have produced much better results than it has over its present route. However, he said, we have got them both now.

"A lot of you people think that the east is not nearly as good as the west." (A voice from the crowd: "The east's no good!")

"Well," said Mr. Graham, "it may be no good, but all the same we prize it for what it has done towards making the west. Our interests are identical and we can have no two different policies in the country."

What was aimed at, he said, was a general policy that would be good for all and the man who made this general policy is the man we call the chief to-day—Sir Wilfrid Laurier. "And I think that I can safely say that there is no man coming from the majority could do the work that he has done coming from the minority. Canada is prosperous to-day as well as contented and happy. People may say that we will have great difficulty in welding all the different nationalities together that make up this great of ours. But I tell you no. This is what Sir Wilfrid has done and is doing to-day. This has been his life work."

The meeting over, everyone hastened to their respective cars and then back to Edmonton was effected in less than half-an-hour, arriving at the King Edward Hotel at 6.30 a.m. time to dine before setting out for the big meeting in the Thistle Ring.

Liberal Luncheon

At two o'clock yesterday afternoon of making Canada a great nation.

To Develop the Country

So far as this government has been led by Sir Wilfrid Laurier there has been one outstanding feature and that is to develop Canada as much as it can be developed—and can you say that anything has been done or money spent, that is not in the interests of the country.

"Is it not now your duty to support that man, as every true Canadian should—the man who is moulding the destinies of his nation—say that you must support him."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier
 "Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: You sir in your remarks as chairman, offered me an invitation to come and see you again in a short time, and I can assure you that it would give me the greatest pleasure to do so," began Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The Premier then remarked on the wonderful growth of Edmonton since he first saw it, and was sure it would continue to grow.

A Better Canadian
 "Since I began this tour," continued the Premier, "I have become more of a Canadian than I ever was before. I noticed in the civic address with which I was honored today, that I was referred to as an optimistic statesman. But since I reached Edmonton, I think I may call myself an enthusiastic statesman."

The Premier then referred to Canada's climate, saying he liked to call Canada "Our Lady of the Snows." For it was the cold that made her so hardy, he said.

"This country has not been made by the hand of God for the weak, the effete, the lazy, the sluggish. It is for the strong, the hardy, the energetic," said the Premier.

A Galaxy of Nations
 "The British Empire is composed of a galaxy of brilliant young nations. And what is the principal that has made this empire what it is? It is the principles of autonomy. It is that each nation should control its own fate. It has made Australia strong and hardy, and last, but not least, has now put such a bright future before South Africa."

Struggle for Autonomy
 "There are some old heads who have come from New South Wales and Brunswick who remember the struggles of their forefathers to govern themselves (Mackenzie, Robert Baldwin). These all contributed to our experiences and the right to govern ourselves."

"It is our glory that it is possible for a colony to become a nation with all severing its connection with its mother land (cheers), and we live now. We are free. We live to benefit by the struggles of our forefathers. It does not follow that our task is done—we owe our allegiance to England and we are proud to say that we are British subjects."

"And sir, it is part of the glory of this country that she has been able to set an example in this subject to others. Australia has followed in the path, so has New Zealand, and now South Africa is united under the British flag and is setting out on the road of autonomy."

"Within a few days one of my colleagues is leaving to attend the opening of the first parliament of South Africa.

"My friends, do you understand what these few words mean? The parliament of South Africa! That country that only a few short years ago was riven with war, was fighting against British law, is now part of the British Empire and is governing itself. And furthermore, the very man that led the hostile forces is now the chief councillor in the new government. Nowhere in the annals of history except under British institutions could such a thing be possible. This is part of the glory of our heritage as British subjects."

Navy Our Responsibility

"This is the glory of the British Empire and this is the vindication of the principle of responsible government. First inaugurated in Canada some 60 years ago, first under Lord Durham and afterwards under Lord Elgin. The like of British institutions was never seen in any part of the world up to the present time. As subjects of the King, as a British country, and as a British nation, as I said some time ago it is our duty to assume all the rights and responsibilities of a free people."

"What is the first right, what is the first duty, and what is the first responsibility of a free people? It must be prepared to maintain its integrity. It must be prepared to maintain and defend its allegiance. And to that duty we have given our attention in the last parliament, and have determined to organize a navy to protect our shores."

"Sixteen years ago you had no police, today you have. We had no navy, today we must have one just the same as you must have your police. Britain up to now has borne the burden of defending the Empire in all lands and all seas—and with this you will agree—there may be difference as to method. Some say we should contribute to England, but I think we ought to protect ourselves as a nation should. I don't believe that England could be in danger, afraid or jealous of any nation. I believe that in this case, if all the daughters come from all parts of the earth to help her in her distress, should she ever come to that position, that the enemy would be the more easily vanquished."

"There may be a difference as to methods. Some of my fellow-countrymen have been saying that instead of having a navy of our own we should give a contribution to the British navy. I personally never could agree with that proposition. Rather I think we should do for ourselves what we can to prepare ourselves as a nation for the work of defence. And if my example is followed, a indeed it is being followed at the present time by Australia and New Zealand, and as it is followed by the United States and by South Africa, should England ever be in danger—no; I will not use the word, I do not believe that England can ever be in danger, for up to the present time England was never menaced by the force of any nation—should the day come when England should be in danger I believe that more help can be given her if all the daughters of the nation can go from all parts of the world to meet the common enemy.

"And it is for this reason that I thought we should defend ourselves on sea as well as on land. We have a militia of which we may be proud. They did themselves some credit in South Africa. (Cheers.)

"What does this navy policy mean? It means everything and nothing to some. In Quebec I am denounced as a traitor to my race—because of my naval policy. In Ontario I am denounced as a traitor to the Crown—because of my naval policy."

"But it has been my aim all through my life to put aside race and creed, and to always do what I believe is best for my country and my fellow countrymen. (Prolonged cheers.)

"It has been my lot to fight such battles before. In 1895 in the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan on the school question I was denounced by the extreme Catholics, denounced by the extreme Protestants, denounced in Quebec. But I stood my ground as a British subject should."

"But why do I argue this question? A navy will cost $3,000,000. That is only a part of Canada's worth, and what is that? I have been told it is bankruptcy. But what do we need to hear of bankruptcy in Edmonton or Alberta?"

"We must prepare to do our duty as a Canadian and a British subject. The navy will no doubt cost $3,000,000 per year, but what is that to Canada? We must build the Hudson's Bay Railway. We must deepen the Saskatchewan. We must build the Georgian Bay Canal. We must build up the Welland systems. Why, when money was spent on the Georgian Bay Railway, I was told I was launching the country into bankruptcy. In eastern Canada we have arteries which extend from the Atlantic to Winnipeg, and it is our pride, and to us it have spent millions to improve it.

In the Saskatchewan you have an artery from the Rockies to the Hudson's Bay and to Lake Winnipeg, and we are at present working with surveys to see if we cannot get a six foot waterway from Edmonton to Winnipeg."

"We are young yet, but we have the pretensions of the most exalted nation in the world. When they say it is too high a task for us I say to them 'Not it is not.' This is beginning. The dawn is grey with the light of the twentieth century. And as that light grows stronger and deeper into day, so shall we take our place, our rightful place, that is prepared for us among the nations of the world."

The Member for Picton

E. M. MacDonnell, M.P. for Picton, N.S., in his introductory remarks referred to Sir Wilfrid's speech, declaring it to be a magnificent effort in which the Premier had excelled himself. "It is worthy," he said, "the great statesman who has been at the head of Canadian affairs during the time when the West has grown from an uninvited prairie land to a fertile farming district. Everyone knows that Western Canada made no progress during the eighteen years of Tory administration; things were practically at a standstill. Look at the great difference. Now there are 40,000 more men than there were in 1891. It is equally well known that it is were not

No. 1 Out-Throw Disc Harrow

This Out-Throw Disc Harrow is a model of simplicity and strength. It has the weight necessary to stir up hard soil without the use of weight boxes. The arched frame is extra heavy, being made of special high carbon steel, T-shaped, and the gangs swing directly under the ends of the arch. The inner ends of the gangs are held down firmly, preventing the centre of the harrow from rising out of the ground—thus the discs always cut uniformly no matter at what angle they are set. Convenient foot levers control the scrapers and as the scrapers are wide enough to cover a large area of the disc the latter are always kept clean. All bearings are dust proof. The Bumpers on the inner ends of the gangs have been built up by the frame from all strains arising from end thrust. We use hard maple bumpers because they last longer than any other style and can be replaced at smaller cost. You can be surprised how light this Harrow draws.

The name "Cockshutt" is the strongest guarantee of quality you could wish for, in any farm implement. We manufacture over 120 styles of plows, in addition to seeding machines, harrows, land packers and a wide range of agricultural tools. Whatever you want is in our Catalogue, so write for copy to-day, or SEE THE COCKSHUTT DEALER.

He began to play.

high spirited and debonaire, a Prince Charming, whose prideful rebellion had been stoned for by a touching and mainly surrender.

All this Harry had watched with a painful sense of impotence, and this feeling was upon him today as he stared out from the balcony toward the white porch gleaming in the sun.

At length, with a little gesture expressive at once of helplessness and pique, he turned from the window, took his violin and began to play. He began a barcarole, but the music wandered away through insensible variations into a moving minor, a composition of his own.

It broke off suddenly at a dog's fierce snarl from the yard and the rattle of a thrown pebble. Immediately a knock came at the door, and a man entered.

"Don't stop," said the new comer. "I've dropped in for only a minute. That's an ill tempered little brute of yours. If I were you I'd get rid of him."

Harry Sanderson laid the violin carefully in its case and shut the lid before he answered. "Rummy is impulsive," he said dryly. "How is your father to-day, Hugh?"

"The other tapped the toe of his shining patent leather with his cane as he came with a look of ill humor.

"About as well as usual. He's planning now to put me in business and expects me to become a solid pillar of society—like Sanderson," as he says forty times a week. How do you do it, Harry? There isn't an old lady in town who thinks her parlor carpet half good enough for you to walk on. You're only a month older than I am, yet you let the whole vestry and the bishop to look around your fingers."

"I wasn't aware of the idolatry," Harry laughed a little—a distant laugh. "You are obstinate, Hugh."

"Oh, anybody can see it. I'd like to know how you do it. It was always so with you, even at college. You could do pretty much as you liked and yet be popular too. Why, there was never a jamboree complete without you and your violin at the head of the table."

"That is a long time ago," said Harry.

"More than four years. Four years and a month tomorrow, since that last evening of college. Yet I imagine it will be longer before we forget it."

Harry did not speak. An odd confusion blurred his vision. Perhaps to cover this, he crossed the room to a small-painted safe which stood open in the corner, in which he kept his things and his charities. When Hugh, shrugging his shoulders as if to dismiss the unwelcome picture he had painted, turned again, Harry was putting into it some papers from his pocket. Hugh saw the action. His eyes fastened on the safe's ivory.

"I say," he said after a moment's pause as Harry made to shut its door, "can you loan me another fifty? I'm out on my uppers again, and the old man has been tight as nails with me since I came back. I'm sure to be able to return it with the rest in a week or two."

Harry stretched his hand again toward the safe, then drew it back, with compressed lips. He had met Hugh with resistant courtesy, and the other had found him sufficiently obliging with loans. Hugh's lowered gaze saw the arrested movement, and his cheek flushed.

"Oh, if it's inconvenient I won't trouble you for the accommodation," he said. "I dare say I can raise it."

The attempt at nonchalance cost him a palpable effort. Comparatively small as the amount was, he needed it. He was in sore straits.

"It isn't that it is inconvenient, Hugh," said Harry. "It's that I can't approve your manner of living lately—and I don't know where the fifty is going."

The mark on Hugh's brow reddened. "I wasn't aware that I was expected to render you an account," he said sulkily. "If I do borrow a dollar or two now and then. What if I play cards and drink a little when I'm dry? I've got to have a bit of amusement once in awhile between prayers. You liked it yourself well enough before you discovered a sudden talent for preaching!"

"Some men hide their talents under a napkin," said Harry. "You know."

you—in a bottle. You have been steadily going downhill. You are deceiving your father and others—with a pretended reform which isn't skin deep. You have made them believe you are living straight when you are not; that you keep respectable company when you have taken up with a besotted and discredited gambler."

"I suppose you mean Dr. Moreau," returned Hugh. "There are plenty of people in town who are worse than he is."

"Is a quick-dropped from the hospital staff for addiction to drugs and expelled from his club for cheating at cards."

"Floes down and out," said Hugh sulkily, "and any car can bite him. He never cheated me, and I find him just as good as you! I knew you were only a good imitation of a good fellow at college. You are a poor imitation of a man of honor now."

Hugh rose to his feet as he answered hotly: "And what are you, I'd like to know? You become a little to my pleasure as I please, when you choose to make a stained glass cherub of you, with no reason why I'm not just as good as you! I knew you were enough before you set up for such a pattern. You didn't go in much then for theological diet, 'Palgrave' he went on, snapping his fingers toward the well stocked bookshelves. "I wonder how much of all that you really believed! I imagine your friends don't call you 'Satan' now?"

"No," returned Harry quietly, "they don't call me 'Satan' now."

He went back to the table. The movement set Hugh instantly to regretting his hasty tongue. If he had not only assumed, he would have found of trying into a passion he might have had the money he wanted just as well as not.

"There's no sense in us two quarreling," he said hastily. "We've been friends a long time. I'm sure I didn't intend to when I came in. I suppose you're right about some things, and probably dropping Moreau wouldn't hurt me. I'm sorry I said all I did. Only—the money seemed such a little thing, and I—I needed it."

Harry stood an instant with his hand on the knob; then instead of closing the door he drew out a little drawer. He lifted a packet of crisp yellow backs and slowly counted out $100. "I'm trying to believe you mean what you say, Hugh," he said.

Hugh's fingers closed eagerly over the crackling notes. "Now, that's white of you and everything I said. You're a good fellow, Harry, after all, and I'll always say so." He pocketed the money with an air of relief and picked up his hat and cane.

Just then from the dusty street came the sound of carriage wheels and the click of the gate latch.

"The Bishop Lewin," he said, glancing through the window. "He's coming in. I think I'll slip out the side way. Thanks for the fifty, and—ad—I'll think over what you've said."

Avoiding the bishop, Hugh stepped toward the gate. The money was in his pocket. Well, one of these days he would not have to grovel for a paltry $50. He would be his own master and could afford to let Harry Sanderson and everybody else think what they liked.

"So I'm playing a part, am I?" he said to himself. "Why should you be so hollow trouble yourself over it if I am? Not because you're so careful of the governor's feelings, but by a long shot! It's because you choose to think Jessica Holme is too good for me. That's where the shoe pinches. Perhaps you'll like to play at that game yourself, eh?"

He walked jauntily up the street—toward the door with the little barred window.

"The old man is fond of her. He thinks I mean to settle down and let the moss grow over my ears, and he'll do the proper thing. It'll be a good way to put my head above water and keep it there. It must be soon, though."

The sister-in-law of Robert Schumann is still living. Her name is Marie Wreck. She recently took part in a concert in London. Though she is 78 years old her fingers still glide nimbly over the keyboard. Formerly she was an excellent pianist, though overshadowed by her sister Clara, the composer's wife.

SHORTAGE OF LOGS IS CAUSING WORRY

Local Lumbermen Held Up Owing to Jam of Logs in Black Creek

Local lumbermen are in a predicament over the shortage of logs on account of the jam in the mouth of Black Creek, where it is estimated that seventy thousand feet are approximately 3,500,000 feet are stranded. Besides that the water level in the Saskatchewan is low and will probably remain so, so it is highly likely that the logs at Black Creek will remain in their present position until next spring.

This state of affairs promises to figure largely in the state of the market here and it is of course means that the local market will be 3,500,000 feet short of lumber, while at the present time the orders for lumber at the local mills greatly exceed the supply.

It is quite possible that the market will be relieved by the fact that pile drivers have succeeded in sending down the river some sixty thousand logs which have been stranded along the shores. When these logs, however, are exhausted, and no more can come down on account of the Black Creek jam, it is likely that the local plants will have to suspend operations.

LAURIER

Come Laurier! I love of all our land, Ope-wide the West is flung;

Wave o'er us wall still welcome hand, Whist Heaven-vend our, ideals as grand.

As bards have ever sung.

Come leader of our Liberal host! A youthful nation's pride.

Long may you hold this honored post, Midst changing men, entrusted most, Thy speaking fame world-wide.

Come, scribe of a mighty race, In Arts and Letters famed; In paths of peace, teach us to place Our future far, and thus efface War creeds, by despots framed...

Imperialist of finest scope, Britannia lists to thee, One darling of our nation's hope, Enthralled by thee, Cannucks will cope Their foes, from sea to sea.

INSURGENTS VICTORIOUS

Two Battles in Honduras Result in Defeat of Government Troops

New Orleans, Aug. 26.—Cape and Cape Gracias have fallen and the entire north coast of Spanish Honduras is in the control of General Bonilla and his army with General Lee Christmas, formerly an Illinois locomotive engineer, second in command. In the battle last Wednesday night and Thursday morning Christmas used rapid fire guns in the hands of trained Americans with deadly effect. The troops of the President have sustained heavy losses. It is estimated that between 200 and 300 government soldiers were killed and twice as many wounded in the Ceiba battle. The casualties at Cape Gracias were severe.

ARE CUTTING AT BRANDON

Brandon, Aug. 26.—Wheat, cutting is in progress at the experimental farm, and the result of the plots is remarkably good considering the dry season. On Monday a very fine plot of fall wheat was cut. ## FAKE PICTURES SHOWN

Indians Start Riot When They Find They Have Been Deceived

Gary, Ind., Aug. 26.—An attempt by the manager of a Gary theatre to palm off fake fight pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson fight resulted last night in riotous scenes that required the calling out of the entire police force. Bills announcing the reproduction of the Reno contest were plastered all over town. When the light pictures were shown on the screen views of derision went up from the spectators. The fighters representing Jeffries and Johnson were spotted in known in sporting vernacular as a "couple of shins." They fought fourteen rounds despite the threats of the crowd to tear down the theatre unless their money was refunded. Then the crowd became so violent that the whole police force had to use clubs to disperse the rioters.

NEW COMPANY TO SETTLE NORTH

Looking to the Pacific Development of the Great Peace River Country

F. S. Lawrence, general manager of the Peace River Trade and Navigation Company, is in the city preparatory to his journeying into the Peace River district, where he intends locating lands which will meet the requirements of his company so that operations may be proceeded with. The Peace River Navigation Company is a recently organized concern and its capital is at $100,000. The headquarters of the company are in Montreal. Besides having in view a transportation scheme for the north country, they also intend to begin the colonization of the upper river section of the district.

As a beginning the company will establish a horse and cattle ranch in that district. They will bring in a large number of settlers from the United States and the old country. Nothing, however, will be done this year towards establishing transportation facilities.

Mr. Lawrence believes that there is a great future ahead for the company, and declares that there is no other country so suitable for it as the Peace River district. Besides the splendid farming lands in that district there is also an abundance of pulp wood which means that the establishment of pulp mills throughout the country will ultimately follow. As far as power is concerned, there is 3,500 miles of waterway which are broken occasionally by rapids, and an unlimited supply can be realized. Mr. Lawrence has spent many years in the country north of Edmonton, and has a thorough knowledge of the lay out of the land.

MODERN LIFE WOULD BE TOO HARD ON THE NERVES IF IT WERE NOT FOR WANT ADVERTISING!

The pace of life has become tense.

Worries, disappointments, up-sets at home and office, losses, discouragements seem to multiply as daily life becomes more complex.

The property owner, who MUST have a steady income from rents or lose his property, is "racked" by the untimely defection of a tenant. Some classified advertising quickly retrieves his loss—and quiets his nerves!

The salary earner unexpectedly loses his position—and his peace of mind. The strain would shortly "break" something in his nervous system if, once more, want advertising did not find the better job—and restore to him his mental equilibrium.

In every phase of the city's life, every day, the want ads play the part of the peace-maker. They SERVE you and me at some crisis in our lives—and keep the modern pace and tension from proving too fast and tight for us.

Truly, the want ads ARE FOR SERVICE!

About Town

It has been called to the attention of the Capital that the article in our issue of the third last, reporting the statement of William Ock King who was hanged at Fort Saskatchewan on the 2nd inst., might be open to misconstruction with regard to the two men Parkes and Keller, named by him in his statement. This statement was apparently made by King with a view to escape the gallows by attempting to cast suspicion upon two other men. It was not the intention of the Capital to convey the impression that either Parkes or Keller was in any way responsible for the crime for which King paid the extreme penalty of the law, but was reported as showing the lengths King went to in order to cheat the gallows. If any other view was taken of the article it was a misconception which the Capital regrets.

The first match of the finals between Callicies A and B. takes place at Diamond Park this evening. Kick-off at 7 o'clock sharp.

The trial of Joseph Strassburg on a charge of stealing a bicycle from outside the tent of J. O. Boone on May 7th, 1910, will be heard tomorrow morning in the supreme court at 10 o'clock.

The brother of Thomas Watts, who was found dead outside his shack on the Stony Plain road on Sunday last, has returned to town from Camrose. He will be at the inquest on Friday and until then does not care to make any statement whatsoever regarding the death of his brother.

The exhibition audience received a large number of entries this morning. Clarke Bros. of Gleichen entered thirty Clydesdales, Osborn & Scott of Edmonton entered fifteen and C. F. Lyle of Strathcona entered thirty, as well as about forty miscellaneous. The dairy buildings, as well as the dog and poultry buildings, are finished, leaving nothing further to be completed, except the grand stand and the dining hall which will be finished towards the middle of next week.

Premier Sifton, who accompanied Sir Wilfrid Laurier's party to Red Deer this morning, will remain with it until the Prime Minister leaves Alberta. He will therefore not be expected back in the city until the beginning of next week.

Simon Dyson was fined $5.00 and $5.00 costs for non-payment of his duties as Justice of the Peace, the magistrate this morning. J. V. Miller was ordered to pay Henry Knock wages to the amount of $30, while Jos. Becher was fined $1 and costs for non-payment of wages to N. An accident which might have resulted in serious consequences and which did result in serious damage to a newspaperman's nose happened on the Fort Saskatchewan road yesterday afternoon. The visiting newspaper man touring with the Premier, were taken out in automobiles during the afternoon the guests of the Journal and one car while passing the Belmont School crossed a piece of road which was under repair, with the result that the occupants were badly jolted and one, Mr. T. W. King of the Star and Empire, by the police. The programme of the last week are an example of the quality and variety of the usual run of their pictures. "Davy Crockett" dramatized from the well known work of the same name was much appreciated as was "The Unchanging Sea," another literary picture taken from Kingsley's "The Three Fishers." In both films the spirit of the writers has entered the actors, while the descriptions have been followed to the nearest detail. A rollicking comedy of the wildest was produced by the Selig Co. in "Cow-Boy Girls." It portrays the mischievous indulgence in the party of girls out on a ranch for their holidays. The Lizzie Borden film certainly lives in the memories of many of us for months to come. Large crowds of athletes attended the pictures of Henry Regatta to see our Winnipeg boys win the world's championship in the form of the Steward's Cup. The valiant four passed the winning post amid the loud cheers of the onlookers, who thoroughly enjoyed seeing their countrymen do so well. The management have with much trouble secured the greatest western picture ever produced entitled "Ranch Life in the Great Southwest." It will be given on the 22nd and 23rd of this month.

For the Edmonton Industrial Exhibition, August 23 to 26, 1910, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company will have in effect special fares. For full particulars as to fares, limits, etc., apply to nearest Canadian Pacific ticket agent.

Professor Orton of Cornell University, who has been engaged in collecting samples of clay and shale in the Edmonton district for purposes of geology, test and examination has left for Calgary to meet his wife, when he will take a trip along the base of the rocky mountains north of the Yellowhead Pass, in order to examine the glaciers. While here Prof. Orton collected about thirty bags of samples, which were taken from about twenty different points in the district, and which include samples which were sent or will be sent for examination. Prof. Orton will pass through Edmonton about August 23rd on his return to Cornell. He will make a report on the samples when he has concluded his examination.

EDMONTONITES ARE DOING WELL

Capital City Entrants at Calgary Tennis Tournament Have Been Successful

The Calgary Tennis tournament is now in full swing, and with the fine weather and the excellence of the courts some very fine tennis is being played.

A party from Edmonton went to the tournament with Mr. and Mrs. Dickens, among the number being Miss Taylor, Miss Gaultier and Miss Ross. Messrs. A. E. Nash, D. L. Robinson, Bolton, Bradburn, Barnham, and Kinnear were also with the party. Mr. Nash and Mr. Kinnear, who are playing the doubles, have reached the second round and are in fine form. They are also both through the first round of the handicap and the open singles.

In the handicap doubles Messrs. Bradburn and Dickie defeated Messrs. Dickens and Bolton, but in the open doubles, the defeat was reversed and Dickens and Bolton won from Bradburn and Dickie.

In the ladies' handicap singles Miss Cuthbert was playing a marvellous game. Her match with Miss Vidal was watched with keen interest by a large number of spectators who were rewarded by seeing a really fine exhibition of good tennis. The match eventually resulted in a win for Miss Cuthbert by 6-3, 5-7, 6-4.

The Calgary club have four courts all of which are in very good condition, and the visitors no doubt find the change of courts beneficial to their play, as playing on one court all the season is apt to make the player "stale."

Tomorrow there will be an "At Home" at Senator Longhead's and a dance in the Sherwin Hall. When the tournament is over on Saturday, the party will go on to Banff.

AT STARLAND

During this hot weather it is good to know of this cool theatre where one can pass an enjoyable hour in spite of the oppressive heat. The programmes of the last week are an example of the quality and variety of the usual run of their pictures. "Davy Crockett" dramatized from the well known work of the same name was much appreciated as was "The Unchanging Sea," another literary picture taken from Kingsley's "The Three Fishers." ## DAY OF CELLULOID COLLAR HAS WENT

As far as Grand Trunk conductors are concerned, the celluloid collar is doomed.

Said Supt. Morley Donaldson this morning: "The day of the celluloid collar and the dirty tie and the dirty shirt is gone."

"Our conductors are getting almost the same money as C. P. R. conductors now, and we're going to expect the low salary, but there's no excuse for them now."

"There were some conductors—men with large families—who were used to the celluloid collar and the dirty tie and the dirty shirt, but there's no excuse for them now."

The great and all-important outcome of the big two week's strike, then, is not the adoption of the standard wage of $1.00 a day, but the fact that the passing of the celluloid collar.

Mills were shut down, consignments of butter flowed away like the Nile, and the whole country was seriously inconvenienced—but it was worth while—Ottawa Free Press.

SHOT HIS TOE FOR BURGLAR

New York, Aug. 10.—The little to-lacco and candy store of Gus. Caulfield, 21 years old, at 149 Nichols avenue, Brooklyn, is infested with rats. At night Caulfield keeps a rifle by his side and shoots at the rats when they show up near a small lamp that he leaves burning. Last night he awoke with a start and thought he saw a hand grasping the foot-rail of his bed.

"Who there?" he demanded.

"Who's there? Speak, or I'll shoot!" he threatened, and an instant later he fired.

"Tomorrow there will be an "At Home" at Senator Longhead's and a dance in the Sherwin Hall. When the tournament is over on Saturday, the party will go on to Banff.

EMPIRE THEATRE

"Just what we want," that is the talk around town the past few days when the bills for Sherman's Musical Comedy were being put up and that has been the talk for nearly three years, as that was the last time a good show of the musical kind visited this city and now W. B. Sherman has brought his well-trained musical comedy company up here from Calgary for an extended engagement at the Empire and this company will put on a class of shows that have seldom been equalled in this town by any one.

There are sixteen people in this new company and every one in the troupe has been selected for his or her ability in their respective line of work. Tom Becson who heads this new company is a comedian of words and will place the Edmonton theatre goers as well as he has been doing all along. He is the producer of the company and carries a lot of great material for laughing purposes and if he can't make you laugh at his funny Irish comedy you had better see a doctor as there is something wrong with you.

There is a chorus of ten girls with the company and they are good dancers and pretty singers and they should make a hit. They have a very good reputation in Calgary and Seattle for their work and they should equal it here in every way.

There will be a matinee every day at the Empire with a complete change of programme twice a week and two shows nightly. For the change of programme Thursday the company will offer Girls in Politics.

SONS OF ENGLAND

Ottawa, Aug. 10.—At this morning's sitting of the Sons of England convention a communication was received from a Toronto Lodge suggesting action by the Grand Lodge in favor of a contribution of Great-noughts to Great Britain in lieu of an addition to the Canadian navy. The letter was not read but was referred with several other communications, including a protest against cooing labor to the general purposes committee. After discussing, it was decided to leave the law regarding the district deputy supreme president as it is.

SOME NOTES ON THE SEASON

Harvest has begun in the south part of the province. The result is very much the same as was predicted all along during the season. Wherever anything like scientific methods of soil cultivation have been followed and care taken to conserve last year's rainfall, good crops are being harvested. The prospective yields run from 15 to 20 bushels per acre.

Near the foothills the yield will reach in all probability 40 bushels per acre. Where merely "good enough" methods have been employed there is practically no crop. Some fields have been turned over to ranchers to be eaten off, and then cultivated for next year's crop.

The sheep ranchers are securing relief in some places by securing the right to run their flocks on fields that have failed to grow a crop of sufficient length to be cut with a binder. The arrangement is a good one because the crop thus eaten off is much better for the land than being plowed under while the soil is so dry.

"The little farm well tilled" that has been ignored so long in Southern Alberta looks good to the real estate booster and public men these days. The fellows who have been ever ready "to go up in the air" at the first introduction that the farmers in the short grass districts of the province should keep in mind the importance of conserving moisture, have fared about the same as did the Irishman who fell from a ladder with a hod of bricks. "They got a h. o. of a bump."

The farmers in the bushy districts are also exposed to certain dangers. The conditions of this year, which changed to be ideal for them, will not last always. The seasons will come which will keep crops growing late and expose them to dangers from frost, and he is a short-sighted man who models his conduct after the experience of one year rather than a series of years.

The average rainfall of the north is no greater than that of the south but it is distributed more evenly throughout the growing season. In wet years the crops get too rank; late rains prevent them from maturing and they are frosted, not because frost comes earlier north than south, but because the crop is not as ready to receive it.

Farmers can safeguard themselves against these dangers by proper rotation, selection and management of crops, and they should do so.

The man who meets these things squarely and deals with them frankly exposes himself to abuse from the "hot air artists" and "up in the air" boosters, but they in turn are merely climbing an unstable ladder with a hod of bricks, and the longer they climb the harder will be the bump when they get it.

SIR GEORGE DOUGHTY COMING HERE

Sir George Doughty of Grimsby, England, has accepted the invitation to be the guest of the president and chairman of the Grand Trunk Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways in their special train over the whole of their lines. After leaving Edmonton they go by C. P. R. to Vancouver and Victoria. From Vancouver they will go by steamer about 500 miles by the coast to Prince Rupert. Lady Doughty accompanies Sir George and they left Grimsby for Liverpool, July 26, sailing July 27. Sir George will lecture in England on his tour.—Winnipeg Free Press.
